'There'll Be Statues Of Me'—Goering LAST DAYS IN LIVE OF CONFINEMENT TEARS AND FEAR

FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT

TEARS, MADCAP SCHEMES AND PRAYERS HAVE WOVEN "THE LAST SCENE OF ALL THAT ENDS THIS STRANGE, EVENTFUL HISTORY" OF THE ELEVEN LEADING NAZIS IN THE DEATH CELLS OF NUREMBERG. AS THEY AWAIT THEIR EXECUTION BY HANGING NEXT WEDNESDAY THEY ARE BEING CLOSELY STUDIED BY PSYCHOLOGISTS AND JAILERS.

THROWN INTO POLISH JAILS

WATER TORTURE FOR BRITON

From RONALD CLARK, B.U.P. Correspondent
In British Zone, Germany, Saturday.

PRIVATE ALVIN VINCENT, British soldier held by the Polish Gestapo for a year, has now told his full story to the British authorities in Germany.

Vincent, who lives in St. John's-terrace, Normanton, Yorkshire, landed this week on British-controlled land at Gatow airport, near Berlin, from Warsaw, after the War Office had secured his release.

It was the first time since he was captured in Crete five years ago that he had been free and among friends.

"After I was liberated from Cochochovskia by the Russians," he said, "I was picked up by the Poles and spent nine months in prisons in Breslau and other towns. Then they sent me to Warsaw."

NEAR EMBASSY
"The prison there was only 20 yards across the street from the British Embassy."

"During the last three months I was there a man from London was brought in. He started talking to me about the last conditions in England, the lack of food the way the Government was running the country and finished with, 'I've decided to live in Poland now.'"

"I caught him by the shoulders and told him I'd bash him unless he stopped talking like that, but I was too weak from hunger to do it."

He reported me to an officer and, as a punishment, I was made to stand naked for two hours under a cold shower-bath below the prison.

"Then at two o'clock the next morning I was awakened and given the same treatment. Altogether, while I was there, I got this treatment seven times."

"In the Warsaw prison I got very poor treatment and very little food. I could not get words to the British Embassy in London. I was on hunger strike and swallowed two spoon handles when I was taken to hospital, since I thought that would improve my chances of getting in touch with the Embassy."

"All I got, though, was an emetic. When I was taken to Poland and Russia, Vincent replied emphatically: 'Yes, I am absolutely sure there are.'"

Germans Get Cars For £125!

Do you want a cheap car? Then go to Germany. Increasing numbers of cars are being sent to Germany now being sold to German civilians at 5,000 marks (£125).

The cars are going mainly to those who were in the British zone. When the men pushed her down, snatched the money bags and ran to a waiting lorry.

Nuremberg, Saturday.

These men, responsible for millions of deaths, are now, with few exceptions, in despair as they await their own end. Some weep, some pray, some complain. They write letters, make wills, take exercise, and, above all, spend much time in meditation.

They are fairly well. None has lost weight in the past week. But their conduct in the closely-guarded cells is unstable.

Today I had long talks with Dr. Douglas Kluge, chief psychiatrist at the Nuremberg trial; Major Frederick Teich, one of Goering's jailers; and Dr. Gustav Gilbert, the prison psychologist.

From the facts these three gave me, and starting with the following picture of how the condemned eleven are preparing to meet their death.

Big 4 Talk In Liner

By Our Diplomatic Correspondent

AT Mr. Bevin's request, the liner Aquitania is to make a special voyage to U.S. towards the end of the month to provide accommodation for the world delegates going to the UNO Assembly and the meeting of the Foreign Ministers in New York.

The British delegation, headed by Mr. Bevin, will board the liner at Southampton, and a call will be made at a French port to pick up the U.S. French and Soviet delegates.

Conference rooms will be provided on board, and it is anticipated that much preparatory work for the New York meeting will be done during the voyage.

In addition to considering the final texts of the Balkan peace treaty, the Foreign Ministers will probably hold preliminary talks on the treaty for Germany.

With reference to what to wind up, the Big Four are to meet either today or tomorrow to arrange a timetable for their future deliberations.

Britain, France Abolish Visas

Paris, Saturday.

THE French and British Governments have agreed to abolish visas for travel between the U.K. and France.

The move, made by the British with a view to facilitating communications between the two countries as well as developing tourist traffic.

It will probably be several weeks before the new order comes into force.

British officials are making proposals to other European countries, notably Holland and Belgium.—Reuters.

Discipline First

"If we are to uphold the dignity of the management, we must maintain as one of our principles that management can only be successful if discipline be observed and authority recognised"—Mr. T. O. Rose at the Institute of Industrial Administration Conference yesterday.

WOMAN ROBBED OF £160

Mrs. Mabel Forster, of East Dulwich, was last night attacked by two men who grabbed two linen bags from her containing about £160.

She was near her husband's fruit business in Tinseltown. When the men pushed her down, snatched the money bags and ran to a waiting lorry.

THEY PLAN A QUIET WEEK-END

The Duke and Duchess of Windsor, in Britain together for the first time since 1939, posed for photographers yesterday in the grounds of Ednam Lodge, Sunningdale, Berks, where they planned to spend a quiet week-end before making some private visits in London. Subsequently they are leaving for the U.S.A. Ednam Lodge has been loaned to them by the Earl of Dudley.

Queues For Meals

At all four restaurants a reduced service was maintained, and the Saturday crowds had to queue up longer than usual to secure their tables.

STRIKES AT 4 CORNER HOUSES

THE London hotel strike spread last night among the "Nippies" at all the Corner Houses. Parts of them had to be shut to the public.

At all four restaurants a reduced service was maintained, and the Saturday crowds had to queue up longer than usual to secure their tables.

Following the walk-out of 100 workers at the Oxford-Corner House on Friday, 20 employees yesterday downed tools at the Coventry-Corner establishment, one floor of which was put out of action.

The strike at the Strand Corner House had to be closed when 118 of the staff struck work; while at the Adelphi-Corner House 100 came out and caused the Bryanston and Grosvenor to be closed.

The strike at the Corner Houses was, in fact, something which the strike leaders had not bargained for. They emphasised that these workers were not under strike orders, but had acted simply in sympathy with the hotel staffs.

About 100 employees of the Cumberland Hotel also came out, as well as a number of workers at the Lansdowne Restaurant in Berkeley-square.

At the twelve hotels and eight restaurants hit by the strike, no settlement is now expected before the middle of the week at the earliest.

Representatives of the hotels had a 2½ hour talk at the Ministry of Labour yesterday, and later it was announced that a joint meeting of workers, employers, and Ministry officials will be held on Tuesday to discuss the strikers' demand for union recognition.

Pivotal electrical maintenance engineers employed at hotels affected by the strike received notices yesterday from their union calling them to stop work in support of the caterers. The area organiser of the union told them they would receive strike pay.

Won £114,300!

New York, Saturday.
Mr. Ed Jacobs, "son of a gun" on the New York Handicap played for a length and a half in the 2½ mile race, to become the second highest money winner in Turf history.

"Slyme" collected a $10,200 purse to bring his lifetime earnings to $114,300, compared with Whitwarsley's record of $140,260.—Reuter.

Mystery!

Returning from an assignment to carry out "secret scientific investigations" in the United States for the British Board of Trade, Mr. W. W. Varvil, a Board of Trade engineer, arrived at London airport yesterday.

Mr. Varvil said his investigations could not be made public.

'Green Car' Man Found

MR. HARRY CARTER, the Leicestershire farmer who "disappeared" last Sunday in his green car and has been sought by police all over the country ever since, was found yesterday—and he was very surprised.

"I had no idea I had caused all this trouble," he told a reporter. "I don't realise what a lot of trouble I had caused."

"I just left it yesterday a holiday so I went to Skegness and have been running down and tired due to overwork."

A post office official saw Mr. Carter's car in Horncastle market place and telephoned the police. When a police officer arrived Mr. Carter was coming away from a hardware shop when he had been for a shave.

"If I had not decided to stop at the road out of Horncastle to Leicester, I should have been on my way home by now," he said. "I don't think of letting my relatives know where he was. Mr. Carter replied, 'No.'"

"Since April we have been very hard-worked," Mr. Varvil said, and thought I must have a holiday," he added.

PARENTS' AMAZING TALE

'Boy Is Being Bewitched'

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT

Trowbridge, Wilts, Saturday.
FATHER and mother, charged before a special court at Trowbridge, today, were said to have put salt on the fire "to stop neighbours from exercising witchcraft against their four and a half-years-old son."

After astonishing evidence, the case was formally adjourned for three months, and the magistrates ordered that the child should be taken to "a place of safety."

Ernest Samuel Gale, aged forty-four, and Violet Maria Gale, aged thirty-eight, of Studley Rise, Trowbridge, pleaded not guilty to ill-treating and neglecting their child, Edward, in a manner likely to impair his health.

Mr. J. B. Taylor, for the N.S.P.C.C., said that one of the Society's inspectors went to the Gales' home and found the child looking cowed and pale.

The parents said the child was kept up late and slept in their bed.

Month's Freedom

'Dangerous Murderer' Caught

Colchester, Saturday.
REINHOLD BRUCKHARDT, thirty-three-years-old 6-ft. 6-in. Gestapo man who escaped from a prisoner of war camp at Berchtesgaden, near Colchester, Essex, on September 9, was recaptured today near the camp after a month's freedom.

Bruckhardt, who was awaiting trial for crimes alleged to have been committed when he was in the Gestapo, was described at the time of his escape as "dangerous and a murderer."

A few days after the escape a telephone call was received at Scotland Yard reporting that a man "resembling Bruckhardt" had been seen travelling on a Tube train between Epsom and Fitcham.

Police officers were rushed to the West End, but after an extensive hunt no trace of the man was found.

Bruckhardt, escaped with another prisoner, Ludolph Lenger, a thirty-four-year-old Luftwaffe man, who has also been recaptured.

These men have now been taken back to the camp.

'Vinegar Joe' Is Dead

"VINEGAR JOE"—General Joseph W. Stilwell, 63, commander of the Sixth U.S. Army, who recruited from "a hell of a beating" in Burma to help knock Japan out of the war, died in San Francisco yesterday.

He had undergone an operation for a liver ailment believed to have been contracted in the jungles of China and his condition grew critical on Thursday.

General Stilwell was reputed to have known so much about China and Chinese that he thought in the language.

News-Reel Pictures Are Banned

THE public still probably never saw pictures of this week's Nazi executions, it was stated yesterday by U.S. officials at Nuremberg.

The Allied Control Council has decided that only an official photographic agency is allowed to take pictures and that these would be for historical and record purposes only.

Officials turned down flatly the idea that a film of the executions would be shown on the news-reels.

The Missing Chapters Of Melvyn's Life

From Our Own Correspondent

Southampton, Saturday.
WHEN Mrs. Jesse Rawson, of Robert's-road, Southampton, began to get weekly sums in 1942 from the corners of the "lost" made-up Melvyn's life, she was surprised.

Because a year before her husband, a 32-year-old son of a "lost" made-up Melvyn, had disappeared as a deserter from the British Merchant Navy.

Now she has learned the missing chapters in his life—and is glad of them. Here is his story:—

Chapter 1—Melvyn Rawson, ex-navy boy to the Duke of Kent, joined the Merchant Navy. He was his ship in Halifax, Nova Scotia, in 1941.

Chapter 2—He tells the U.S. Navy all about it—how he wanted to help his wife and become a navigating officer.

Chapter 3—They train him as an officer in a naval academy, make him a U.S. citizen, assign him to escort caravans. He does duty in Russia, convoys and in the Far East, gains decorations.

Chapter 4—He is demobbed, goes into the U.S. Merchant Navy and finds himself aboard the cargo ship American Farmer, which became big news in a sailor's dispute.

Chapter 5—Mother and son, settled on Southampton quay—after five years.

Skymen Draw Pay, Celebrate

Singapore, Saturday.
AFTER their first night for five months on spring break, the 150 skymen who were the first of the Sixth Airborne Division to arrive in Ceylon last night after their release from POW detention camp, hastened to the city and to the cinema and the Singapore kinema and cafe.

Cairo Vigil By Armed M.P.s

With sub-machine-guns at the British Military Police Barracks, a squad round an overland British Army lorry at the Cairo barracks in Cairo last night while large crowds of Egyptians looked on silently.

The lorry had crashed into a wall and two Egyptian civilians were seriously injured. Some of the witnesses was caught in the city and trouble was feared.

THINGS THAT MAKE THE NEWS AND NAME

STOCK market prices move up and down like a life, but not as smoothly. Starting points are hard to see. They can be operated by remote control or pressed by some unwitting and casual cause.

Minister of Fuel and Power, sent the price list down with a jolt when he announced that the coal outlook was black.

This view was less than a jolt when he spoke of the "gloomy prospects" of Britain's key industry, since from the escape from the horrors of the past, the City of London, was foolish to mark mining prices down because a Cabinet Minister seemed to have changed his mind. Unfortunately, Thompson's suggestion in defence of his colleague—that the present Minister of Fuel and Power inherited his most serious problems from previous administrations which had this to do with the efforts to solve them.

But Mr. Shinwell, who has had over twelve months in office, and the fact that he is a security man, is enough to enable a competent man to make up his mind about prospects for the future.

CIRCUMSTANCES may arise, but they must have changed very suddenly to justify some quick-witted decisions by Cabinet Ministers.

For instance, can Mr. Strachey, the Food Minister, explain his eleventh-hour decision to increase the meat ration for all heavy workers, seeing that barely a fortnight ago he told our food reserves made such a course impossible?

It is now announced that as from November 3 the miners will be able to put an extra shilling's worth of meat a week with special coupons and that all category A rationers will see their meat allocation increased by 75 per cent.

Some three and a half million workers eat meat in these categories—a quarter of the working population. Good luck to them all, but where has Mr. Strachey found the additional 50,000 tons of meat—a week's supply for the entire population—required by this decision?

It was available in the first instance, why the increase limited to miners only? If, on the other hand, it means dipping deeply into reserves, how can we avoid the conclusion that the Minister has yielded to the pressure of the powerful trade unions?

But now he warns us that "we run a very grave danger of breaking down." He exhorts us to cut our consumption of coal, gas and electricity by ten per cent.

And he says "we must recognize that main-power in the coal-mining industry is declining."

They Pay In Cash And Suffering

INTERNED BRITISH COME HOME TO HARSHIPS

By "People" Reporter DONALD ADOCK

MANY British men and women who were interned in enemy camps during the war are incensed by the announcement in the House the other day that if the Government refuses to pay voluntary compensation for the ill-treatment they received they have no right of appeal.

'Sgt. Questioned Peer's Daughter'

QUESTIONS alleged to have been put by a police officer to the daughter of a peer were criticized at a Parliamentary yesterday, when the Hon. Lynda Victoria Noel-Buxton, of Wilton-place, S.W., 24-year-old daughter of Lord Noel-Buxton, appeared on remand. She was accused of obtaining £512 credit from the Hotel Park Hotel, Ltd., and obtaining a M.G. car from Mr. Jack Yvan Hutton Potts by a worthless cheque.

Mr. Robert Graham (conservative) said further charges might be preferred.

Mr. Graham said Miss Noel-Buxton stayed at the Hyde Park Hotel in the name of "The Hon. L. V. Bridges." When even her name was changed to "Mrs. Lynda Victoria Noel-Buxton." He said she was charged with the charge of obtaining the M.G. car. That cheque, also returned marked "No Account."

Mr. Graham said further charges included the larceny of three cheques, and obtaining a cheque valued at £200 from Mrs. Harrods, when Miss Noel-Buxton gave her name as Mrs. Bridge.

Det-Sgt. Goddard said that when he cautioned her concerning the cheques, Miss Noel-Buxton said: "I took them out of the back of Miss Minto's book." He said that when asked about the cheques, Miss Noel-Buxton said: "I took them out of the back of Miss Minto's book."

Mr. W. Hudson (defending) said Det-Sgt. Goddard had adopted a "most curious practice."

"Here you have a young woman who is charged some time previously," he said. "She is brought before this court and charges are made, with her name remained, and then questions are put to her in a most extraordinary manner, the cross-examines this young lady."

Miss Noel-Buxton pleaded not guilty and was committed for trial. One charge of stealing one suitcase was withdrawn.

Thomas: The Silly Ass

From Our Own Correspondent

Underford, Saturday. In this Gloucestershire town, ancient rights give "commoners" permission to allow their animals to stray in the streets, and for 20 years Thomas the donkey has taken full advantage. He has been fitted and stamped with the status of a civic pet. He has drunk beer in public-houses, even.

But last week, Thomas, the silly ass, spoiled his record. There were some streets to which "Commoners' Rights" do not apply, and Thomas was found in one of them.

Police-Sergeant Watkins saw him in Broad-st. Result: Thomas and his owner, edgewood, Tom Hampden, appeared before the local magistrates.

Thomas was introduced by Supt. Large as "the famous town donkey," and it was said that he had never been in trouble before. "We'll fine him six for a start," said the chairman, "he'll have to watch his step in future."

HOW TO BEAT COAL SHORTAGE

Thomas: The Silly Ass

Underford, Saturday. In this Gloucestershire town, ancient rights give "commoners" permission to allow their animals to stray in the streets, and for 20 years Thomas the donkey has taken full advantage. He has been fitted and stamped with the status of a civic pet. He has drunk beer in public-houses, even.

But last week, Thomas, the silly ass, spoiled his record. There were some streets to which "Commoners' Rights" do not apply, and Thomas was found in one of them.

Police-Sergeant Watkins saw him in Broad-st. Result: Thomas and his owner, edgewood, Tom Hampden, appeared before the local magistrates.

Thomas was introduced by Supt. Large as "the famous town donkey," and it was said that he had never been in trouble before. "We'll fine him six for a start," said the chairman, "he'll have to watch his step in future."

Reform Jail—Thurston

LAUGH WITH HANAN

MINISTRY OF JUSTICE
The man who was the "Man No Jail Could Hold" is now in the House of Commons. He is Stanley Thurston, a former Prison Reformers' Association member. Just released from Parkhurst, he is planning to start a new life and help others to do the same.

Now he is Stanley Thurston, the Prison Reformers' Association member. Just released from Parkhurst, he is planning to start a new life and help others to do the same.

He is concentrating on prison reform and will assist any convicted men the chance to live better lives.

Few men bashed prisons more than Thurston—and few knew more about Thurston how to get out of them.

In 17 years he made five daring escapes.

He climbed the 16-foot wall at Dartmoor with the aid of planks and springs in the top!

Like a HARRIER
His Lewis fall-break was a masterpiece. A "Mrs. Thurston" called on him in prison and slipped him a duplicate key. After she had gone, the warden looked for Thurston, found he had vanished, too.

Thurston made his break in the night, ran into a policeman. Most men would have given up then, but Thurston said the warden had said "Left, right—left, right," and he knew like a harrier in training.

After his Dartmoor escape, he was given a ticket of liberty, being free for 152 days.

Adopting simple disguise—a layer of chewing gum over his back teeth to falsify his face—he eluded the police and committed burglaries as well.

SIR BERNARD
A man of irresistible charm and plausible tongue, he had several soundings along being at one time or another Sir Bernard McKinnon, Mr. Plummerton and Robert Henry Studd.

Police efforts to hunt him down after each break cost the nation £10,000.

All his life Thurston has looked upon crime as a disease, thinks criminals should be sent to hospital instead of prison.

A WEEK FOR NOTHING Pay And Play For Footballers In The Summer

By LONG ACRE

A NOTE that has been discussed in the football world for some time is that this is, as far as is known, the only business where a man gets paid a basic minimum wage for doing nothing.

Think you know. There is hardly a League club in existence that does not have a number of players who are not paid anything at all. One League club is said to have 100 players who are not paid anything at all. These players are called "amateurs" and they are not paid anything at all.

These facts about professional footballers to which I have referred, you will find in the "Footballers' Union" which is a joint venture of the "Footballers' Union" and the "Footballers' Association".
